University Health Reporting Pilot Reminder
Thank you again for your participation in the university’s Health Reporting Pilot. If you are reporting to campus or working in the community on behalf of the university, please log in to the health reporting tool via compass.osu.edu or the Ohio State app to record your temperature and answer other health reporting questions. More details and answers to some common questions are available on the Health Reporting Pilot webpage. A couple of things to note:

1. You have to LOG IN to the app or compass using your OSU credentials or the health reporting option does not show up.
2. The health reporting option is included within the wider Ohio State app (once logged in), it is not a separate app.

Please contact Dr. Graham Cochran(.99) with any questions.

Cleaning/Disinfecting Electronic Devices
Make sure to disinfect your devices often – use these tips to protect your tech:
1) Power off your device first.
2) Use a 70% isopropyl alcohol wipe or disinfectant solution.
3) Spray solution on a clean microfiber cloth and wipe device gently.

- Clorox wipe warning
  Many people have probably used Clorox wipes on keyboards and other devices. This is generally not recommended because Clorox can damage a machine or fry a keyboard very quickly. So, if you are going to use a Clorox wipe be especially cautions of those drippy ones at the bottom of the container.

- Additional sources for cleaning/disinfecting from Xerox, general Apple products instructions, for iPhones, and from Dell.
4-H Educator Receives National Award
Susan Hogan, OSU Extension educator for 4-H youth development in Franklin County, has received the National Excellence in Urban 4-H Programming Award by the National Association of Extension 4-H Agents. The award recognizes Hogan’s pioneering work in school gardening education in Columbus.

Curious about Pelotonia?
Join the OSU Team Buckeye Captains Ashley Sinram and Karl Koon for a lunch time Q&A. On June 25 from 12-1pm they will provide an overview of My Pelotonia, how you can get involved this year, and answer any questions you might have. Pelotonia has always been more than a ride. It's about conquering a personal challenge and coming together to raise critical funds for cancer research. Since we cannot have the traditional ride this year, My Pelotonia 2020 will be more personal. This year, you define your personal activity and fundraising goals. There are no minimum commitments or fundraising requirements. It's going to be legendary. Join us! Team Buckeye-CFAES Sustains Life.

The CFAES Brand
As a reminder, the marketing and communications team provides resources including branded templates, graphics, patterns, logos and other items you can easily download. As well as, how to easily work with the Brand approval team. There is also information regarding social media and video development, web services and media relations. You can also submit story ideas and request videos to be added to YouTube.

Through these resources we strive to build up college visibility, while maintaining alignment with the University, and provide the freedom to be creative. We hope that you continue to care for the Brand and elevate the college that we are all committed to help grow.

Recently we added some elements/templates to support the University wide initiative, #TogetherAsBuckeyes.

Lean on Your Land-Grant Children's Incentive
Let’s recognize the children of CFAES faculty and staff for their support and good behavior during COVID-19. They’ve helped their parents by keeping busy while their parents worked from home. They’ve patiently adjusted to their parents as their teachers. They’ve helped us, together, to fight the pandemic, protect Ohio’s food supply, and continue our mission to sustain life.

Dean Kress would like to send them a small reward. To opt in to receive it, please use the following Qualtrics survey:

Stay Calm and Well Amidst the COVID-19 Storm for Early Adolescents!
The Ohio State University Office of the Chief Wellness Officer invites early adolescents to engage in a six-week online wellness webinar series, Stay Calm and Well Amidst the COVID-19 Storm for Early Adolescents! Starting Wednesday, June 24 at 10 a.m., early adolescents from 10 to 14 years of age are invited to participate. The series is intended to help develop coping and resiliency skills and enhance healthy lifestyle behaviors. Each webinar is 30 minutes and will be presented by Ohio State students from the Colleges of Nursing and Education and Human Ecology.

Participants will gain knowledge and skills to be and stay well during and after the COVID-19 pandemic through evidence-based tactics that work! Check out our topics and schedule below:
1. Stress Buster: Using Cognitive-Behavioral Skills to Allay Anxiety & Depression
2. Staying Physically Active While Home: Tips and Tricks
3. Be Here Now: Mindfulness Works!
4. Sleep Soundly During the COVID-19 Pandemic: You Can Do It!
5. Eating Healthy and Balanced in Stressful Times: Why it Matters
6. Resiliency, Gratitude and Positivity: A Timely Trio in the Midst of the COVID-19 Storm

For more information about this series, the speakers or registration, please visit this website.
If you have any questions about this series or its content, please don’t hesitate to reach out to Buckeye Wellness.

These early adolescent years are important foundational years to build coping skills and healthy lifestyle behaviors.

Invitation to Participate in a Study to Assess Textural Food Sensitivity/Aversions in Children
Dr. Christopher T. Simons, a faculty member in the Department of Food Science and Technology would like to invite your child to participate in his research study to understand underlying textural attributes of foods that might cause food aversions. Your child(ren) may participate if they are 10-15 years of age without braces and willing to evaluate pictures on a computer screen and answer a few simple questions to the researchers. Additionally, you must identify if your child is a picky or nonpicky eater (in regard to food texture). Learn more.

Questions? Email Amy Andes at andes.34@osu.edu.

Evaluation of Food System Vulnerabilities and COVID-19 Needs
The Lean on your Land Grant COVID-19 Food System Task Force requests your help in identifying specific food system vulnerabilities and needs you are seeing during this crisis in order to leverage our internal CFAES resources and external partnerships to inform and support decision makers and all Ohioans.

Please complete this survey now and/or whenever additional needs emerge that you would like to share with to us. The survey link will remain open.

The Lean on your Land Grant COVID-19 Food System Task Force has convened to mobilize a rapid, coordinated and evidence-based process to respond to the current COVID-19 pandemic and the issues it is creating in our food system, and to make Ohio and CFAES better prepared for the next crisis.

Immigration, COVID-19, and the US Economy

June 25, 2020 – 12-1:00 p.m.

In a world ravaged by a global pandemic, stay at home orders, quarantine, and social distancing practices are the new normal. Human movement around the globe has come to an almost screeching halt. However, while national governments threaten the complete suspension of migration, preventing people from moving across borders is not as obvious of a solution as it may seem, nor as beneficial.

As Covid-19 continues to spread across the world, with cases continuing to rise, supply chains around the globe are beginning to take a hit. Most notably the food supply chain is beginning to strain. The meatpacking industry, unable to accommodate proper social distancing protocol, is experiencing a severe hit to their workforce. Farmers and agricultural businesses are taking to the fields after the winter season and need an abundance of able-bodied workers. But who typically fills these roles? Well according to the Department of Agriculture about half the country’s field hands, more than a million workers, are undocumented immigrants. Learn more and register here.
Chadwick Arboretum & Learning Gardens Announces Appeal for Support

Chadwick Arboretum has surrounded the CFAES offices with the most beautiful gardens on campus. Now these gardens are serving as a significant place of respite during the pandemic crisis. Please join our BuckeyeFunder campaign to recover critical operating revenue that was lost when our Spring Plant Sale & Auction Fundraiser and our Campus Campaign Membership Drive was cancelled. The link to donate is https://buckeyefunder.osu.edu/ChadwickArboretum. Thank you for Planting Forward!
