CFAES Staff Advisory Council Newsletter

Spring/Summer 2015

Greetings to CFAES Staff Members

Welcome to another SAC Newsletter Staff Advisory Council Chair, Kim Roush

SAC members are diligently working to coordinate events that show staff appreciation and honor staff dedication. We serve as a voice and conduit to the VP's Office. We accomplish this by:

- Increasing recognition opportunities and professional growth for staff
- Promoting and encouraging staff development opportunities
- Coordinating activities to increase staff morale and staff satisfaction
- Facilitating learning opportunities by offering scholarships
- Updating the VP on events and staff concerns

SAC is following the VP Conversation on the Future of Extension to see where we might serve. The whole process has allowed an opportunity for college staff to have a voice in the decision-making process.

Your voice is important, and we welcome your input. Enjoy the showcase of CFAES SAC events within!

SAC TASK FORCES—working for you

Staff Resources – We recently completed and distributed to all departments the CFAES New Employee Orientation Guide. This brochure is an onboarding tool to share with our new hires. It includes an overview of the College and a helpful checklist for employees getting started in their new position. Plans are being finalized for a professional development luncheon that will include hidden benefits displays and a motivational speaker. This will be held, Thursday, November 12, in conjunction with our annual staff recognition awards banquet. All staff will be invited to attend, mark your calendar and watch for more information in August. Staff Resources Task Force is also responsible for SAC's newsletter, published twice a year.

Staff Appreciation and Recognition – As part of Columbus campus Campus Campaign event this Spring, our task force recognized staff for their service to the college with our annual pancake breakfast.

Communications—The Communications Task Force has been working on a brochure to use at various events to help people better understand what we do and how we can assist staff. Coming soon are table tents to display around our campuses, at branch locations and in Extension offices to let you know about key Staff Advisory Council events and application deadlines. Also, check out our website to see what's happening, who's on the council, upcoming events and find important forms you need for submitting an application for professional support or to nominate someone for an award.

Professional Development and Road Trip – June 1st was the application deadline for professional development awards, winners are listed in this newsletter. This month we hosted another CFAES Road Trip. Due to the overwhelming interest and a great success last year, we decided to make the journey back to Stone Lab on Gibraltar Island (trip highlighted in this newsletter).

OUTSTANDING UI - The CFAES Staff Advisory Council has been working on a new, on-line staff recognition program called OUTSTANDING UI. Watch your inbox for a message from Dean McPheron on the launch of this program. Each office will also receive posters and postcards to publicize this new method of recognizing the wonderful staff in our college.

NEW HIRES

CFAES welcomed ninety new employees to the college from January through June 2015. Twenty-eight employees were hired in Academics, Extension hired fifty-two, and Service Departments, ten. Please take time to make our new employees feel welcome and share what you most enjoy about working for OSU/CFAES.

CAMPUS CAMPAIGN 2015

Many Layers. Much Depth. Ohio State.

That was the theme of the university's 30th annual Campus Campaign, which ran through April 30. CFAES entered this year's campaign with an ambitious yet attainable goal of 45-percent participation. Every gift counted. Those funds powered research, scholarship and programming within our entire college.

On April 15, in Columbus, the Pancake Breakfast by Chris Cake's Flying Flapjacks, was held to show appreciation for the work and support provided to the college on a daily basis. On April 23, 2015 the Wooster campus held their annual Campus Campaign Kick-off with "Pluck-a-Duck-for-a-Buck". $510 was raised during that event with all funds going to the Secrest Center. We did not attain the goal of 45% participation, but we did increase our participation from 37% last year to 38% this year as a college! Great Job CFAES!!

Temple Grandin visits Wooster

On April 17, 2015, Temple Grandin, noted animal behaviorist and autism advocate, was on CFAES's Wooster campus. Grandin spoke to a group of about 50 ATI livestock students at the beef cattle handling facility designed by Grandin and Grandin Livestock Handling Inc. The facility was dedicated in 2012. Her evening address, "Animals Make Us Human," was presented to a packed house in Fisher Auditorium. Grandin is a professor of animal science at the University of Colorado.

ATI OUTSTANDING STAFF AWARD

Ohio State ATI held its annual faculty/staff recognition event on April 21. Connie Miller, Administrative Assistant, Horticulture was selected as the recipient for this year's ATI Outstanding Staff Award. Connie has been employed with OSU ATI for 20 years. Thanks for your dedicated service. CONGRATULATIONS Connie!

BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND—STONE LAB ROAD TRIP

On Wednesday, June 3, 58 CFAES staff members enjoyed a day of discovery at Stone Lab on Gibraltar Island to talk with researchers and CFAES colleagues to learn about their work.

Three workshops were held: Lake Erie Science Cruise – Staff participated in hands-on work such as measuring environmental conditions, collecting algae and zooplankton and catching fish.

Gibraltar Island tour – Staff were able to capture a view of Lake Erie from Perry's lookout, see the glacial grooves and Cooke Castle.

Aquatic Visitors Center – Staff learned more about the lake's complex ecosystem.

In 2016 a new CFAES Road Trip location will be chosen. Make sure to participate in this annual trip to see what fascinating jobs your colleagues are doing and enjoy an entire day of networking with colleagues and friends. Watch for details in the spring.

HAPPY RETIREMENT KEITH SMITH

June 30th marked retirement day for our outstanding Extension Director, Keith Smith. To recognize and honor Keith's leadership, the college established the Keith L. Smith Lecture on Innovation in Extension to be presented annually by an invited speaker at the OSU Extension Annual Conference. If you wish to support the lecture series, you may direct contributions to fund 315170 at give.osu.edu. CFAES Staff Advisory Council would like to say THANKS Keith for your 23 years of dedicated service leading OSU Extension.

HEALTH and WELLNESS

Ready...Set...Go! OSU Wooster Campus employees proudly joined other University employees and national organizations during June to celebrate health and well-being in the workplace. June 19th activity was employee's choice of a 5K walk, run, or cycle. Other activities held during the month included a softball game and sessions on healthy lifestyle practices and financial wellness.

Buck-Eye Opener held at CFAES to kick off OSU Wellfest

On June 26th morning from 6:30 – 8:00 the 2nd annual Buckeye Wellfest kicked off the event with the WellFest Buck-Eye Opener, in CFAES Ag. Auditorium. Employees, their spouses, SSDP and students were invited to get their morning workout on the dance floor. Activities included a 10 minute line dancing, zumba and hip hop sessions, a make it yourself espresso bar, a juice bar, blender bike, chair massages, a photo booth equipped with silly props, and a DJ playing all kinds of music, from top 40 to 60s, 70s and 80s remixes. DIVERSITY

Wooster Staff enjoyed learning about Brazil during the sixth session of Cultural Connections.

Malak Esselli (kneeling front center) received a CFAES Diversity Mini-Grant for her project titled, "Cultural Connections". From April through June campus employees were invited to attend presentations on six different countries. Representatives, working on Wooster campus, shared information and lead discussion about their home countries. Participants were asked to complete a survey at each session and were treated to a pizza lunch. Countries included Nigeria, USA, Mexico, India, Lebanon, and Brazil. The cultural connections events were a great success, bringing students, faculty, and staff together to learn about the cultures of different countries. A Facebook group "Cultural Connections" was initiated and is 82 members and growing.
